Fourth Annual Agricultural Short Course Opened Monday

CKUA BRIEFS

CKUA has some programs of special interest to radio listeners, scheduled for the week beginning January 31.

Miss Berangere Mercier, Mr. H. Norbury and Miss Bonisteel will furnish a delightful musical program on Sunday afternoon, January 31, at 3:30. The selections to be rendered by these well-known artists are of a type that will appeal to every music lover. The following are only a few of the numbers to be given:

"Arioso," Bach
"Gigue," Kronke
Flute solos played by Mr. Norbury.
"Echo Song," Bishop
"By the Watery Minnetonka," Lieurance

Voice and flute duet by Mr. Norbury and Miss Mercier.

On Monday evening, February 1, at 8:00 p.m., an interesting address by Honorable Irene Parlyby will be broadcast. This talk will be on the assembly held at Geneva two years ago. The topic on which Mrs. Parlyby will speak is "The Work of the First Committee."

At 4:00 p.m., February 1, a talk on "The Art of Some Modern Poets" will be given. Lawrence Bunyon and H. Leonard Humphreys are the poets to be discussed at this talk.

At 8:00 p.m. Monday evening, the CKUA players are offering a North Carolina folk-play. Fifteen hundred students are now enrolled in the French course in phonetics. One student is as far north as Ft. Smith.

Tremendous interest is also being taken in the series of lectures on "Customs and Legends of the Plains Indians" which Mr. Corbett gives each Thursday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Varsity Variety will be on the air this Friday. A splendid program has been arranged.

Dean Howes Welcomes Ag Delegates to University

Fifth Annual Short Course Gets Under Way on Monday—Delegates From All Over Province in Attendance

(As told to A. Stanford by Don Cameron)

The University of Alberta Agricultural Short Course for farm men and women has been successfully conducted annually for several years. The idea of this course, which is operating this week at the Normal School Auditorium, is to establish a closer contact and sympathy between the man on the farm or practical agriculturist, and the technical agriculturist or research worker. These two groups are brought together through this medium, and the closer understanding of each other's work is the result. The short course affords an excellent opportunity for the public to take advantage of the University's beneficial experimental results which are there extended.

For the short course of 1932 the four Northern Alberta livestock breeders' associations, namely, The Alberta Provincial Cattle Breeders' Association, Limited; The Alberta Provincial Horse Breeders' Association, Limited; The Alberta Provincial Swine Breeders' Association, Limited, and The Alberta Provincial Sheep Breeders' Association, Limited, are co-operating with the University, and are holding their annual meetings and discussions as part of the short course program. This idea of having outside agricultural organizations meet at the University at the time of the short course was started very successfully last year, when the Provincial Seed Growers met here. So far this plan has worked out exceptionally well. Future short courses will in all probability continue to have one or both of these groups of men meet in this way.

The courses are under joint direction of the Faculty of Agriculture in the University and the Department of Extension. The lectures are given by members of the various departments of the Faculty of Agriculture, by the members of the Provincial and Dominion Government staffs, and by farmers who are outstanding in some particular field. In this way there is a nice blending of the technical and practical sides. The course so far this year has been an outstanding success. The attendance, considering present economic conditions, has been exceptionally good, there being one hundred and fifty present for the Wednesday program. A fine spirit prevails in the discussions, and the lectures have been listened to with keen interest.

Dean Howes officially welcomed the delegates to the University Monday afternoon. The Dean, in expressing his pleasure at having so many present, stated that it was the intention to carry out the program on schedule, and with as much business despatch as possible. This may account for the fact that every program has been snappy and business-like throughout.

The Monday afternoon program consisted of a consideration of seed potato growers' problems, followed by a discussion. Dr. O. S. Amundt lectured on "Principles of Potato Improvement." He dealt with methods of breeding and improving strains of potatoes, and among other things pointed out that a poor variety of potatoes could not be improved by selection. Dr. A. W. Henry, of the Department of Field Crops, gave a very interesting and practical talk concerning the value of selection, and the control of disease. He dealt with the more common diseases found in Alberta potatoes. Following this, F. T. Rickett, of Clover Bar, who is President of the Alberta Potato Growers' Association, gave a talk on "The Potato Problem."

Alberta Grad Nominated Conservative Candidate

Percy G. Davies, B.A., LL.B., Will Contest Athabasca Riding on March 21st—Probably Three Other Contestants

Winning over ten other nominees for the Conservative candidacy in the federal riding of Athabasca, Percy G. Davies, B.A., LL.B., graduate of U. of A., was elected Thursday.

Seven counts were necessary before Mr. Davies was declared elected, and then on the motion of A. S. MacRae, the choice was made unanimous. Mr. MacRae was the runner-up in the election, and his motion was seconded by H. A. Welsh, of St. Paul, the third highest on the final count.

By-election on March 21st
Only 29 years old, Percy Davies is expected to be a winner for the Conservatives. He is well known in Edmonton, having attended school and university here. He is a son of the late Arthur Davies. For the past three years, the candidate has been practicing law at Clyde.

In the by-election, which is to be held on March 21st, he will be running against I. S. Doze, Liberal candidate, and Col. J. K. Cornwall, Ind. It is expected that the United Farmers will nominate a candidate shortly to contest the riding with the above-mentioned three.

PERCY G. DAVIES

was through the courtesy of the International Harvester Company. Following this, Professor G. Harcourt lectured on "Fruits We Can Grow." In this he dealt with the problems connected with growing small fruits under Alberta climatic conditions. Miss Helen F. Milne, lecturer of poultry at the University, gave a splendid talk about "Poultry Problems." Dr. H. R. Thornton, of the Department of Dairying, in a talk on the production of clean milk, dealt with the necessity of keeping dairy utensils clean in order to keep down the bacterial contents of milk. The normal milk has a bacterial content much higher than is generally realized.

The Alberta Provincial Cattle Breeders on Wednesday morning discussed the cattle industry. That afternoon, at the University livestock pavilion, a demonstration was given of fly-horse hitches by Professor Smith and Mr. E. S. Holmes, of the Department of Agriculture. Professor J. P. Sackville lectured on "Science and Practice in Animal Breeding," showing how scientific methods were being applied in a practical way to the breeding problems of animal industry. The members of the Alberta Provincial Horse Breeders' Association, Limited, met in the Varsity Tuck Shop Wednesday evening. Professor Rye was the chairman of the program. Several speakers talked to a large and enthusiastic gathering.

The meeting of the Alberta Provincial Swine Breeders' Association, Limited, took place Thursday morning, followed in the afternoon by talks and demonstrations in cattle, sheep and swine at the livestock pavilion. Professor Sackville gave a lecture concerning animal nutrition, pointing out that this field is occupying more and more attention at the present time. The meeting of the Alberta Provincial Sheep Breeders' Association, Limited, was to be held Thursday evening at the Varsity Tuck Shop.

Speaker of House Casts Vote Against Religion

With Vote at 21-21 on Question, "Religion Has Outlived Its Usefulness," Speaker Throws Weight With Affirmative

With the house divided evenly on the question, the Speaker of the Parliamentary Forum of Thursday night boldly cast his vote in support of the heretical leader for the affirmative, carrying the resolution that "Religion has outlived its usefulness."

The issue, as defined by the government, was whether organized, church religions still contribute to the good and welfare of mankind. Religion in its inception, it was argued, was the product of fear, ignorance and superstition, and these evils still exist even in the creeds of modern churches. The whole history of religion has been one of carnage and slaughter in the name of a jealous god, and today the effect of religion on civilized men was to arouse in them a fanatic and unreasoning hatred for adherents of other faiths that inevitably led to unspeakable atrocities. Other speakers for the affirmative pointed out that the need for religion no longer exists since science provides the explanation for natural phenomena which religion formerly supplied, and that religion was authoritarian and the enemy of progress.

The leader for the opposition, supported by a number of theological students who followed the argument

GATEWAY CUB MAKES SCOOP

Rumored that Hughie Wilson Plans Another Big Ice Carnival Feb. 6

The lid is off—no more secrecy to this plan. The Gateway is ready to tell it to the wide world. A sports writer, forcing his way into the shadowy portals of Hughie Wilson's sacred sanctum, emerged with the startling information that very soon another big ice carnival was to be held. Very soon—yes, February 6, to be exact—and this one, as conditions indicate, is going to be the biggest and best yet.

You all remember the last one in November, and what a thrilling time we had—dancing, music, skating and lunch and plenty of thrills in those moonlight—where there was less chance of some egg bumping you just as you were telling her—oh, well, we don't care what you told her.

But at this one it is claimed big things will be offered. Novelties in abundance—the best music and ice in town and a skate afterwards, all for the nominal sum of 25c. The rink management are out to make history, and doubtless history will be made the night of February 6.

A decidedly good feature of the rink—besides Hugh Wilson himself—is the Rink Tuck Shop—coffee, real coffee, in honest-to-goodness clean cups; hot dogs and buns that tempt the palate, and the goodwill of the management all at cut-rate prices. The Rink Tuck deserves to do well, because it's clean and wholesome. Ice is guaranteed—if the weather holds out (yes, very likely)—and we're all set for the biggest and best ice carnival of the year. Let's go, gang, and have a real rollicking time.

Status Student Discipline Discussed at S. C. Meeting

Letter From Provost Read at Meeting—Report Asked For Setting Out Council's Viewpoint

The present status of student discipline at the University of Alberta was the chief subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the Students' Council held last Monday evening in Arts 135. A letter addressed by Dr. MacEachran, the Provost, to the Council was read to the meeting and discussed. The letter concerned women's discipline and contained a statement to the effect that the University authorities gave the Women's Disciplinary Committee power to enforce any disciplinary measures that they deemed in the best interests of the women students, provided they had the sanction of the Advisor to Women Students. This letter seemed to bring the discipline situation to a head. It was decided that several members of the Council should draw up a report in the light of this letter, setting out the Council's viewpoint, and that this report should be presented for discussion at a special meeting of the Council to be held in the Students' Union office at 12:20 p.m., Wednesday, January 27. That meeting was held and the report presented, but it was decided that a more comprehensive report concerning the whole affair of discipline and its relation to the University authorities should be presented at one time, the report possibly to contain official statements by the University authorities. It was decided that it was impossible to prepare this for the current issue of The Gateway, but it will be considered at the regular meeting of the Council on Monday evening, and it was hoped that it would be ready for the next edition of the paper. The special meeting adjourned at about 1:00 p.m.

Varsity and High River Battle To Thrilling Tie

Varsity Up 2-0 Halfway Through Third Period, But Slipped and Fliers Evened—Varsity Comes From Behind to Tie 3-3 in Overtime

Last Saturday night saw the High River Fliers, cellar occupants of the Southern Alberta Hockey League, come from behind to earn a 3-3 tie with the Varsity team. The Fliers were out to avenge their 5-2 defeat at the hands of Varsity, and came near to doing so. Things looked all to the merry for the Green and Gold squad halfway through the final canto, when they were on the heavy end of a 2-0 score, but High River staged a thrilling rally to even the count. The Fliers went into the lead in the overtime period, and Varsity was hard pressed to tie the game.

The game opened with both teams out for blood. Both teams put on some neat combination rushes, but Ross and Blayney had comparatively little trouble in keeping the net clear. It came to the lot Eddie Klassen, Varsity's lanky left-winger, to open the scoring. Four minutes from the start of the second canto, Klassen whipped down the left boards and snapped a blazing shot past Blayney that gave him no chance. Varsity pressed hard, with Kinnear and Gardiner doing fine work, but they could not get past Blayney, who played a neat game.

Klassen Scores Again
Klassen broke out of the gloom again six minutes after the start of the third period, when he fooled Blayney on another neat solo effort. Things looked bright for Varsity at this time, but Souter and Robinson combined to cut Varsity's lead down to one goal, Souter scoring on a well-timed pass from Robinson.

Marshall Ties Game
This goal gave the Fliers the needed punch, and they fought hard with neat combination efforts. Marshall, fast-skating forward of the Fliers, evened the count when he drifted through the Varsity defence to fool Ross on an ankle-high shot to the corner of the net. It was a neat tally. Both teams put all they had into the battle, but neither could score, the regulation game ending in a 2-2 deadlock.

Fliers Take Lead
Two minutes after the beginning of the bargain session, Souter put the Fliers in front when he beat Ross with a beautiful shot from the defence. Content with their one-point lead, the Fliers played a defensive game, and still had their lead when the change-over came.

Count is Evened
In the final session Varsity put all their men on the attack, but could not bulge the twine. Play was fast and furious around the Fliers' net, and it seemed that the goose was cooked. Gibson, however, came through with the goods when he scored on a long shot with only 30 seconds to go.

Klassen was the stand-out performer for Varsity. He was strong on the offensive, as his two goals will testify, and he back-checked hard. Hall, Ross, Gibson and Kinnear also put up good exhibition of hockey. Souter, Marshall and Blayney played best for the Fliers.

The teams lined up as follows:
Varsity: Ross, Hall, Gibson, King, Kinnear, McConnell, Klassen, Willams, Austin, Gardiner.

High River: Blayney, Arnold, Souter, Robertson, Hoffman, Marshall, McCorquada, Blundun, Clark, and Petersen.

Referee: Clarence Campbell.

SPORTS TALK

The senior hockey team has only managed to win one of their games in the local hockey series and that one was against the Calgary Maroons. The boys are in there fighting all the time, but they seem to lack the scoring punch.

Scoring punch is one of the things that Al Hall doesn't lack at all. Al leads the league in actual goals scored, and stands fourth in the assists and goals standing. It's a habit with Al to be up around the lead in the scoring tables.

Council in its handling of the disciplinary situation.

THE EDITORS.

CORRECTION

We wish to correct a misstatement which appeared in last week's Editorial entitled, "What of the Disciplinary Situation?" In that editorial it was stated that the first delegation appointed by the Council for the purpose of interviewing the authorities on the disciplinary situation had forgotten to keep the appointment. We are informed that the delegation kept the appointment, and that in addition a number of other delegations were sent by the Council in the course of the next two months. We regret exceedingly that such a mistake should have appeared in connection with the criticism of the

BUS SERVICE AGAIN

We are going to get our bus service to the university—sometime. The latest word just received from the battlefront is that the city council has refused to agree to the wording of the agreement as proposed by the university's legal representatives, and the university's representatives have in turn refused to agree to the alternative wording as proposed by the city council. We read in the Edmonton Journal for January 26, 1932: "The university's solicitors insisted on the insertion of a clause providing that the bus service be extended from time to time to give 'sufficient and adequate' service, provided that such development was not inconsistent with the development of the street railway."

"Council saw danger in such a clause and claimed that the development should only take place as 'mutually agreed upon'."

As the matter appears in the Journal we can see not the slightest point upon which the city council may raise any objection to the agreement. On the face of the matter the refusal of the city to agree to the clause binding them to give "sufficient and adequate" service simply means that they have the intention of giving exactly the type of service that they please without regard to the users of that service. We interpret the clause requiring the bus service to be extended from time to time to mean that it should be extended both in the frequency of service or accommodation of busses as traffic increases and in the area that it serves. We wonder what the taxpayers in the districts which might presumably be affected by the proposed service will have to say in regard to the refusal of the city council to agree definitely to extend the service from time to time in order to give "sufficient and adequate" service?

In another article appearing in the Journal we read that "pending a settlement of the point under dispute, contract for the required busses is held up." Even had arrangements gone through without a hitch we are told that the bus service would not have been inaugurated before about March 15, a date already too late in the season to be of any great benefit to the university and consequently too late to prove conclusively the usefulness of the line. As matters stand at present the service will probably not be inaugurated prior to some time in April or in May when all the students have left for home. Then the service will have to be carried over the summer months presumably at a loss until the return of cold weather next fall and the return of numbers of students to the university for the fall term bring an increase in traffic. It would be in the interests of the city as well as those of the university to see that service is commenced as the very soonest possible date.—L. L. A.

THE LAURA SECORD LEGEND

The author of a history text which was recently published in eastern Canada in dealing with the war of 1812 committed an unpardonable sin. He omitted the adventure of Laura Secord. We are all very familiar with the story—how in the guise of a milkmaid she tricked the American sentries, walked miles through forests that were congested with savage Indians, to warn Fitzgibbon of the impending American attack on Beaver Dam. The story is included in the public school readers of probably every province and the history texts usually dwell on it in detail. So when the author mentioned above had the affront to omit the story from his history, he was promptly and harshly condemned. One eastern weekly newspaper commenting on the subject actually stated that even if the incident were not true what has that to do with it? And goes on to criticize the author on the ground that whether the story is true or not, it should be taught to the school children as an historic fact because it is a beautiful illustration of Canadian heroism and the pupils should not lose the benefit of any story that will enhance their patriotism.

As a matter of fact it has been suggested at different times before this book we have referred to was published, that the Laura Secord story was not accurate, that the dangers were not nearly so great as have been described and in any case Fitzgibbon knew of the American plans before he was warned by Mrs. Secord.

The attitude popularly taken on the subject is characteristic of the present day when patriotism of the blatant flag-waving type is so rampant. Love of country is almost a religion and any one who does not adhere to it is regarded as blasphemous and disloyal. When the national anthem is played we stand at attention and assume a reverent attitude just as we do during a prayer in church.

The policy of teaching the history of one's country from a biased viewpoint and which is followed by people who think themselves perfectly honest, is to be condemned for two reasons. Firstly, it necessitates the telling of falsehoods to the children (needless to say, we are dealing with the question in connection with the schools rather than with the universities, because in this university, at any rate, the bias is not apparent). This is defended on the ground that the end justifies the means. Apparently it is quite permissible to incorporate numerous legends into history texts, whether they have any foundation in truth or not, because of the "beneficial" effect on the children.

Secondly, the stress laid on every event that helps

CASSEROLE

AN INTRODUCTION TO THE FUNDAMENTALS OF ELEMENTARY OOMPATOTOLOGY

Recent investigations in the field of abstract mathematics have led to the discovery of oompatology. Supposing a stair rises ten feet in a horizontal distance of fifteen, then the sum total of the rise of all the steps will always be ten feet, no matter how high or low these steps may be, also the sum total of the horizontal difference will always equal fifteen feet. Thus we may have one large step of ten feet in height and fifteen feet in length, or two steps, each five feet in height and seven and one half feet in length. In any case the sum total of the horizontal and vertical components will always be twenty-five feet.

Then let the steps become smaller and smaller till in the limit each step will be only an infinitesimal distance long and an infinitesimal distance high. In other words, the flight of steps will be a straight line which forms one side of a right angled triangle; the other sides of which are ten and fifteen feet. But as shown above, this side must necessarily equal twenty-five feet in length. Therefore, we come to the important and revolutionary conclusion that the hypotenuse of a triangle is equal to the sum of the lengths of the other two sides.

Similarly it can be shown that the length of the side of any triangle is equal to the sum of the lengths of the other two sides which means that university students need no longer bother taking short cuts, as it is just as short to go around the corner.

Now we come to Oompah. This value is equal to the sum of any two sides of a triangle minus the third side. But any one side equals the sum of the other two sides of the triangle, so Oompah equal zero. However, one must be careful to remember that this is not the ordinary mathematical zero, which isn't equal to anything at all. This Oompah is the Oompatological zero which, as anyone can find out experimentally, is equal to almost anything you like to mention, including the day of the week and your grandmother's blood pressure.

By a simple extension of Oompah, it can irrefutably be shown that all routes from one place to another are exactly equal, and so it verifies Einstein's theory that a straight line is not the shortest distance between two points.

However, only at this point do Oompatology and relativity meet on common ground. The time-space concept is the foundation and base of Einstein's theory while in Oompatology time does not enter at all. For if two persons were going at uniform speed from the same point to the same destination using different routes, they will both arrive at the same time, no matter what routes they choose. This is fundamental, for, as shown above, all routes will be equal. Thus they leave the starting point and reach their destination at the same time.

It is hoped that some scholar will extend the method, technique and function of Oompah to time. The Oompaternity, that society for the promotion of the study of Oompatology, has offered the degree of B.O. (bachelor of oompatology) to the student who can project Oompatology into time.

Oompatology is as yet a comparatively young science, but already many prominent mathematicians and physicists as well as others have expressed their opinions. Einstien, being interviewed, said, "When I evolve a mathematics like that, I will be content to die—even anxious," Millikin, the famous American physicist, said, "I can truthfully say that I have never seen any system exactly like that." Sir James Jeans was too overcome with emotion to utter a word. DeByle Loese in confidence told the author that before he read the introduction to oompatology he was affected with hiccoughs. Now he is completely cured, suffering only from convulsions and hysterics. And the Greek mathematician, Kenexander, took one look, then fainted dead away. They brought him to but he passed out again, so they brought him two more and he survived.

to put in a favorable light the country to which the children belong, helps inculcate ideas that give them an entirely wrong sense of proportion.

We realize that it is natural to feel an affection for one's own school, town, province or country, but love of country has been distorted into a blind worship, usually centred around national heroes or past events. For instance in the United States, George Washington is an illustration of the former and the signing of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, of the latter.

Of course we do not imply that it is wrong to be familiar with the history of one's own country, in fact we believe it to be highly desirable, but why should the history of other countries, in so far as it can teach anything of value, not be taught as well and in the same light. It is a notorious fact that histories—at least the ones that find most favor—distort the facts or put them in such a light that one is led to believe that his own country is God's chosen.

If each state were isolated and out of contact with the rest of the world, this might be harmless but as such is not the case, the result is serious. We are taught to worship our own country but that is only the half of it. At the same time we inevitably come to hate other countries. For example, the British victories at the Plains of Abraham, Queenston Heights and Waterloo are emphasized, while her defeats at Yorktown and Gallipoli are minimized. We always place our country in the role of a hero, while the role of the villain is played by the enemy. As a matter of fact any one should realize that his country has its blunders as well as its strategists, its cowards as well as its heroes.

The effect of the teaching we receive is to make us partisan and bigoted. We think that we are patri-

PHYSICAL TRAINING

Editor, The Gateway.

Dear Sir:

Physical training is a discordant element in the university. I will not concern myself with whether or not we should have this department but rather with its purpose and work. Its aim as set forth in the calendar, "Is to contribute to the health of the student body by encouraging participation in all forms of athletic games, and by conducting classes in physical training suited to the needs of the various groups of students." "Mere verbosity to impress on fond parents that their progeny will not only increase in wisdom but in stature at this government university."

The questions are how does this department contribute to the health of the student body and how much does it contribute?

In simple language the purpose is to build up the body of the student. This is accomplished by attending two classes of exercises a week. This may be very beneficial but certain students not caring to take these callisthenics, join the army. I am rather doubtful, if learning one end of a rifle from the other, marching around in circles at the command of some person who it is admitted does get excellent exercise for his vocal chords, is of much value physically. Even if the esthetic of the C.O.T.C. maintain it is muscle building surely they will not contend that members of the band are developing their bodies. Yet exemption from P. T. is obtained if you join this body, although how it fulfills the avowed purpose of the department I do not know.

Again P. T. is supposed to encourage participation in athletic games. Is it that men would rather be buffeted around on the rugby field than go through these mechanical motions?

It is also stated the object is "to conduct classes suited to the needs of the various groups of students." The implication being that different kinds of classes are held. True, there are boxing and wrestling classes but the department only allows one exemption a week from P. T. for attending one of these classes although it cannot be argued that they are not as beneficial as physical training periods.

Now to answer the second question. How much does this department contribute to the health of the student body? Each year the department may have a registration of one-eighth of the men in the university. The principle followed is that is this eighth were not taking P. T. their lives would be sedentary and as a result they need this drill. I leave you to judge how many of this enrolment do not get enough exercise without P. T. Nor can it be maintained that there is a small minority of new students who need P. T. or they will grow stale by over-study for there is no compulsion to take the course in the first year. It can be taken in the graduating year.

Moreover this department allows exemption for normal school certificates of physical education. A man might work on a survey all year and yet not be exempted, although he had had many times the exercise that the normalite had. Quite unfair and illogical.

I think it is quite clear that this department should be abolished. In these times when talk is rampant that the university grant will be cut down why should not this department be the first "to feel the axe."

ADDUB.

YOU'RE ON, N. B. C.

University of Alberta.

January 26, 1932.

Editor, The Gateway:

In the last issue of your paper there appears a letter signed by J. S. Steele which though masquerading as fair criticism is really a direct attack upon CFCN's proposed hook-up with the National Broadcasting company. The above mentioned letter is laudable for its Canadian spirit but for nothing else. It is rather narrow in point of view.

The writer said "the sponsors are American firms some of which we in Canada know nothing of. Many of the products advertised are unknown to us and due to present restrictions are practically unattainable except at exorbitant prices. The programs are all that we are interested in."

Now let us consider this statement. Most of the advertisers over N. B. C. are well-known and have a large sale in Canada, for example, Fleischman, Maxwell House Coffee, Carnation Condensed Milk, Mobile Oil, Barbasol, Chase and Sandborn's Coffee and many advertisers have branch factories in Canada, e. g., General Electric, Coco Cola, Firestone Tires and Maytag Washing Machines. These tic, but are really deluding ourselves. The spirit that should be condemned is not mere patriotism but that aggravated form of patriotism which leads to national egotism and intolerance.

At the present time particularly it should be remembered that before we can hope for disarmament and inter-national peace, it is necessary that there be first built up a foundation of tolerance. Distrust and hatred of one country to another must be removed. This cannot be accomplished until each country ceases to teach its children the ideas that foster and aggravate that distrust and hatred. We must learn to study history disinterestedly as we do chemistry or physics and not regard it as an object of worship.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

We read in connection with the recent "revolution" in Salvador that "On the suggestion of a prominent banker, Rodolfo Dukz, adult citizens were equipped with rifles and revolvers and given carte blanche products are both known to us and used by us.

J. S. Steele goes on to say that KOA and KSL (both N. B. C. stations) are quite accessible in practically all parts of the province. What a selfish view to take. How about the thousands of low-powered tube sets and crystal sets which cannot get out of the district?

J. S. Steele speaks of the time when we will have an all-Canadian hook-up. He says "It is a question of then whether it is better to have our provincial stations on an American network now or wait for a while and have it on an all-Canadian hook-up. It is improbable that if CFCN does join up with N. B. C. that it will in future break away to join a Canadian network."

Dear Editor, is there any reason why CFCN, also in Calgary could not join the all-Canadian network? The question involves only CFCN and not "stations," as J. S. Steele has written.

I would like to ask J. S. Steele if he thinks that an all-Canadian program will offer such entertaining variety as Paul Whiteman's Paint Men, Arthur Pryor's Orchestra, Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, Coon Saunders, Sousa and His Band, Ted Weems. By all means let CFCN join the N. B. C. and bring us real entertainment for 16 hours of the day.

With all due respect to J. S. Steele, I prophesy that W. W. Grant will get his 50,000 letters.

PLAYERS' CLUB

Editors, The Gateway:

I would like to take this opportunity of pointing out a few considerations in the proposal for a re-organization of the Dramatic Society. I heartily endorse any movement which would develop keener interest in drama in the university. A change such as suggested in last week's issue of The Gateway should be considered, however, from a financial and business view point.

The main issue apparently is a separation of dramatic funds from the general fund of the Students' Union. This assumes that dramatics in the university is a paying proposition and to shoot any Communist on sight." Which means, of course, that anyone may be shot on sight, since it is hardly likely that Communists will go about proclaiming themselves as such and shooting will for the most part be done on grounds of suspicion only. A very handy arrangement for anyone who wishes to be rid of a few persons against whom he may have a grudge, they are simply suspected of being Communists and shot on sight.

This is apparently bad weather for Communists. They are being accused of inciting the recent disastrous riot at Dartmoor prison in England. It would be almost impossible to think of anything for which they are not accused. If they never serve any other purpose in history the Communists will do down as the best and most convenient scapegoats of all times.

It took a revolution in Central America to let most of us know that there is a Canadian navy.

its ways that it has lost the opportunity of profiting thereby.

"Due to the system in force, the organization of extracurricular activities is very weak. For example, because the student who was appointed Editor of The Gateway, the student paper of the university, for this term did not have first class standing he was warned by the Dean that he would then be forced to resign the editorship, as no probation student is allowed extra-academic activities. As no pseudonyms are used in writing examinations, this system is very effective.

"It is an iniquitous system, particularly as there is no control possible over social activities, and as a result useless activities are not penalized. In consequence, students lose their enthusiasm in all extracurricular activity by the end of their second year here."

Rules governing the student body are stricter than at Toronto. The penalty for intoxication within the university is expulsion. Women are prohibited from playing cards in the tuck shop. Fraternities, formerly banned, are now limited to five for men and four for women.

Fees here are also much higher. The equivalent council fee is nearly

ELECTRICAL CLUB MEETING ON MON.

Mr. T. P. Stanley Gave a Paper On "Railroad Electrification"

A meeting of the Electrical Club was held on January 25, the address of the afternoon being of "Railroad Electrification." Of necessity this very broad subject could not be dealt with in very great detail and Mr. Stanley confined most of his remarks to the progress made by the D. L. & W. railroad, as illustrative of the modern trend in suburban electrification.

Besides dealing with the construction of several types of electric locomotives and methods of power supply, the speaker stressed the economies and improved service given by velled lines in congested districts.

twenty-five dollars.

University of Toronto.

The Acting Editor of The Varsity, Dear Sir:

I was amazed to read in Tuesday's issue of The Varsity the report concerning the University of Alberta which your editor has based on the opinion of one student. It seems to me that the opinion of a single student cannot reasonably be considered representative of the feelings of seventeen hundred others.

Just imagine anyone electing to exchange with Alberta after reading such an article! In the interests of the U. of A.—which, however, has a sufficiently high reputation to dispense with my support—and the N.F.C.U.S. which has proved such a boon to Miss Grant and myself. I would like to make a few explanations concerning our "Puritan rigidity" and "iniquitous system."

In the first place our Student's Union fee is not "nearly twenty-five dollars," but thirteen. Besides this and paid at the same time—which probably occasioned the confusion—there is a fee of three dollars for the support of the University rink, three dollars for our annual publication and five dollars for an athletic ticket which admits the holder to all games in which a U. of A. participates. The last two fees are refunded if any student desires.

Secondly, I am under the impression that the rule forbidding women students to play bridge in Tuck has a very significant phrase appended something like "during lecture hours." Obviously this completely alters the aspect of the case.

Our ruling re academic requirements for participation in sports is very much like that of the U. of T.: every member of a team representing our university is required to pass in three-fifths of a full year's course of lectures.

As for fraternities, of course we have not as many as Toronto has. But the number is quite in proportion to the size of our university. When it grows sufficiently, more fraternities will doubtless be permitted.

Now comes the final charge that "students lose their enthusiasm in all extra-curricular activity by the end of their second year." If this is true, how can we possibly support our inter-varsity teams of rugby, hockey, basketball, track, swimming, tennis and debating and all our interfaculty teams not to mention soccer, boxing and wrestling and orchestra, the Glee club and the Dramatic society?

Furthermore, the article neglected to mention any of our good points, as for instance, the fact that we still have student government and student control of discipline.

Very truly yours,

does not require subsidization from the Students' Council. This assumption is optimistic. The estimated expenditure in the budget for the present year is greater than the estimated income by the sum of ($142) one hundred and forty-two dollars. We are taking advantage of the paternal assistance of our parent organization to that extent. Should the Dramatic Society assume full responsibility in financing its activities very definite difficulties will arise. It may be a tremendous success financially building up a large surplus by playing box office plays or it may continue to play good plays and end up with a deficit. In such an event the society would necessarily have to turn back to the students' organization for support.

As a member of the central body of students' activities dramatic will probably never reach the heights possible in an independent Little Theatre organization at the same time it will never fall to such a low ebb as is possible in such an organization.

I heartily endorse the idea of a dramatic play reading club but there is no earthly reason why this couldn't be done under the present system. This has been tried before with varying success.

As to the election of the president of the society, I can only point out that an electorate versed in all students' activities would be difficult to stall year look forward to another stellar presentation by the combined talents of the University Glee club and Symphony orchestra. It is not necessary to refresh the memories of the readers of this announcement with success of "The Lucky Jade" and "The Crimson Star" for these two operettas are still talked about.

"The Bohemian Girl," which played to two full houses last February is still fresh in the minds of most of us. That was an attempt which was described by enthusiastic audiences as the best amateur performance ever staged in Edmonton. Edmonton audiences have come to expect great things of the University Glee club and orchestra; they would be disappointed if they were not provided with their annual treat from these campus organizations. It is then with a certain amount of obligation that the Glee club and orchestra turn their attention to serious preparation for this year's presentation.

The offering this year will take the form of a huge recital. It would be telling too much to say exactly what may be expected at this concert but on is sure of one thing: there will be choruses, motets, quartettes, duets, solos and orchestra selections galore. What a combination! Never before has an Edmonton audience had the opportunity to attend a more varied program. The music has been selected with greatest care from the best music houses of New York and London so as to assure a complete and well rounded program of musical masterpieces. It must be mentioned too that the recital will be directed by Prof. L. H. Nichols, Mrs. J. B. Carmichael. Again then, the music lovers of the campus and of the city of Edmonton may look forward to another stellar attraction this year.

WORLD CONVENTION HELD AT BUFFALO

The Eleventh Quadrennial Convention of the Students Volunteer Movement Held in Buffalo From Dec. 30 to Jan. 3

Do the students of North America really think?

This question, brought into the limelight recently by Miss Edna Ferber, the American novelist, and one which is being asked by the students of other continents, was partially answered and its implication refuted during the Christmas holidays, at Buffalo, N.Y. This answer was the Eleventh Quadrennial Convention of the Students' Volunteer Movement of Canada and the United States, one of the most vitally significant gatherings of both nations.

The movement itself is a crystallization of recent years of the university student of that utterance of Christ, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel." It was conceived in 1886 by a group of students, and led by such men as John R. Mott and Robt. E. Speer it developed as a purely student organization for revitalizing the missionary movement.

The Buffalo Convention, however, included under the World Student Christian Federation such organizations as the Canadian Student Christian movement, and the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.'s. With its theme, "A living Christ in the world today," it was actually a conference of over two thousand students facing and analyzing the staggering problems now confronting civilization: economic chaos and the failure of capitalism; the inadequacy of our most cherished institutions, such as democracy, the home, and religious orders; the anti-Christian forces of nationalism, individualism, segmentation of life, and materialism, acting counter to co-operation and unity. Indeed, it seemed as though we were lifted completely out of our habitual apathy and the entire world, with its hopes, its needs, and its failures, spread in breath-taking panorama before us.

But while this view of a "humanity unrooted" was the keynote—the undercurrent of its social concept, there were two other equally important sides. The first, a survey of the place and possibilities of Christianity as a positive factor in the reconstruction of a non-Christian world, and the part missions must play. Second, a deeper, spiritual current, which brought forcibly home to every one the idea of Jesus as a living personality, whose legacy is not religious dogma, but a practical, fundamental life. This living Christ was felt to be the necessary basis of any ultimate solution.

So much for the tenor of the platform addresses. But the program included much more than speeches. The afternoons were devoted to colorful and pertinent dramas, pageants, and what was perhaps the best feature of all, came the round-table conferences international functions. And finally, —intensely interesting discussion groups conducted by the convention leaders, on some phase of Christianity and our modern world.

A word must be said about these gripping personalities who contributed so much as leaders and speakers. essential, I, as dramatic representative on the council, will do my utmost to carry through their wishes.

Timothy C. Bryne.

Mott and Speer, of course, were the "grand old men" of the convention, but the younger leaders seemed out in front at Buffalo. T. Z. Koo, of China, an Oxford graduate and one of the best minds there, vied with Kirby Page, editor of the "World Tomorrow," Jabavu of Africa, John Mackay of Latin America, and the youthful Dr. Judd, also of China, for the lion's share of influence in the convention. All were spiritual, cosmopolitan, and in every way "big men."

As a closing note, let it be said that the success or failure of Buffalo rests, not upon its influence in the lives of the delegates, but upon its effect throughout the campuses of North America.

Varsity Girls Stage Thrilling Come-Back but Lose 49-32

GRADETTES CAPTURE NORTHERN ALTA. SENIOR 'B' TITLE

Calhoun, Kinney, Carscadden and Mahaffy Shine for Varsity—Coulson, Gradette Star, Scores 24 Points

On Monday evening in Varsity Gym the Edmonton Gradettes earned right of contest with the winners of the southern section for the Senior "B" Alberta championship, by a convincing win over the Varsity quintette. Despite a thrilling comeback led by the brilliant Doris Calhoun, Varsity ended on the short end of a 49-32 score. The game was a whirlwind from whistle to whistle, and those watching were treated to a basketball spectacle seldom witnessed here before. The Green and Gold made valiant attempts to cut the lead of the opposing sharpshooters, but the handicap proved too great to overcome. George Parney has a nice team, a bit erratic in shooting at times, but their combination, pep and staying power were a treat to watch. The Gradettes, with early scoring, managed to blight our hopes rather badly, but Varsity provided thrills aplenty for the full game. Coulson, Innes and Reilly were the pick of the winners, with Munton shining at centre. This Coulson girl is a real basketeer, and the way she looped those phenomenal shots was a treat to watch.

Doris Calhoun, tall Varsity centre, injected the pep into the student team, and led them to a sensational finish which had the Gradettes out-guessed time after time. Helen Mahaffy, though not registering in the scoring last, was as effective as any other player. Helen's floor work and guarding was pretty. A newcomer to basketball ranks this year is Lillian Carscadden. Coach Parney had better keep his eye on this player. She was the most effective guard on the floor, and Lillian has staying power. We're all bouquets for Carscadden. Next year she'll be a star. In the latter stages of the game Marg. Kinney showed brilliant basketball, and was effective on the basket. Really it was a great game. Our girls girls showed they have real stuff despite the loss.

The first fifteen minutes of play was speedy, but close checking out the scores. Thrills aplenty were dished out, and at half-time Varsity was holding their own on the short end of 18-9. Mahaffy was playing well at guard with Kinney and Holmgren going big guns on the forward line. Each team seemed a bit excited, and the Green and Gold lost many chances of a score by over-eagerness.

Coulson and Innes were showing well for the Gradettes, with great dribbling and marksmanship. Gradettes were speedier than Varsity, but Varsity seems to have a reserve of strength. Fry missed a couple of open baskets with erratic shooting, and Calhoun netted a basket and a free shot. At time out the score was 6-3 for Gradettes.

Innes scored prettily from centre, and in a second Reilly looped a beauty. Holmgren and Mahaffy missed free shots. Fry was out on fouls, Kopta replacing her.

Calhoun scored from Kinney from Holmgren. Reilly scored. The game was here exceedingly fast. Holmgren scored again and Nairn netted a free throw. Melnyk replaced Holmgren and Innes counted. They seemed to be eluding our guard on the right. Melnyk counted one from Kopta, and Coulson did some fine work with two counters in a row. At half-time the score was 18-9 Gradettes.

The second half was a treat. Munton scored from centre and Carscadden netted a free throw. This Carscadden girl is a real guard. Mahaffy made a flashy dribble, but missed. Coulson scored, and scored again on a beautiful shot from centre. Coulson scored once more; Innes scored, and once again Coulson netted. Coulson is running wild, and with Innes is playing a wonderful game. Mary Melnyk, diminutive star, dropped one from centre. Coulson countered, and Kinney replaced Melnyk. Reilly, left unguarded, scored, and a moment later Munton netted another. Time out—38-11 for Gradettes.

Varsity rallied strongly, and the team seems injected with a new pep. Kinney and Calhoun scored in succession. Calhoun from Kinney scored—exciting and fast. Coulson retaliated, and Calhoun netted from Kalancha's pass. This Kalancha girl seems to be a real troupier. Kinney netted on a brilliant bit of play, but Coulson evened again, and then netted a foul. Calhoun found the basket with a long shot, and also netted a foul. Calhoun is playing real basketball. She nets another—43-24. Reilly counted for Gradettes and Coulson, unchecked, popped in another. Kinney went the length to score, and a moment later repeated. Coulson netted the last Gradette points. Carscadden is very effective on guard and checks in great style. Kinney to Mahaffy to Kinney was successful. Calhoun dropped a perfect basket from the corner to make it 49-32. Here endeth a sad tale, but the girls will hook 'em next time.

Forty-Niners Take Varsity To Tune 4-3 in Close Game

Varsity Gets Lead, But Soldiers Win Out in Exciting Last Period Barrage

(From Bulletin)

Laying down a third-period barrage that brought them one more goal than Varsity was able to obtain, Forty-ninth Battalion's red-shirted brigade blasted out a 4-3 win over the students in a Senior Amateur Hockey League game at Varsity Rink last night.

Forty-niners advanced to within three points of the Second place Superiors by their victory, but they have played two more games than the student squad and the outcome did not greatly enhance their chances for a berth in the play-offs.

The game was a matter-of-fact sort of affair for the first two periods, during which time each team was only able to score once, but was enlivened by the scoring of five goals in the closing session, when the Forty-ninth got the odd marker to win out.

Exciting in Third

Only a fair handful of fans turned out to see the teams in action, and while the teams skated fast and tried hard from the start, there was little excitement for the customers until the middle frame, when Varsity assumed the lead, only to have the winners tie the count shortly thereafter. But the biggest "kick" for the assemblage came in the final period when Forty-niners twice took a two-goal advantage and Varsity twice cut it in half as they battled for the verdict.

While both clubs had occasional scoring chances in the opening chapter, it was not until five minutes had elapsed in the second canto that the initial score came, blonde Eddie Klassen taking a pass from Joe Williams to give Chris Fridfinnson's student team the lead. They went down on a three-man rush, and Klassen took Williams' pass-out from behind the goal to score.

Moher and Bowen threatened for the Soldiers immediately after this, but it was not until five minutes had passed that the count was evened. Stan Moher notched the equalizer on a brilliant play when he dashed through the Green and Gold ranks to beat Goalie "Dooley" Ross from close range.

Puts Team in Lead

Adolph Zuchet, who was the scoring star of the night for the winners, sent his team into the lead for the first time mid-way through the third period when he picked up a well-timed pass from George Dame at the defence and raced in to backhand a shot into the Varsity cage.

The score was boosted to 3-1 just a minute later when George Brown tore down the ice on a three-man rush, broke through the middle of the student defenders and smashed a shot past Ross from close in.

Just a bare 43 seconds had passed when Freddy King, who tallied twice in the period for Varsity, picked up a rebound in front of the Forty-ninth goal to pound it past Dick Howey for his first marker. This made the count 3-2.

The collegians' hopes were dimmed further when "Dee-ay" Gillies worked in close and handed a pass to Zuchet, who made good on his drive.

In a closing assault, King gave Varsity another goal in Kinnear's pass well within the Soldiers' defensive zone, but the students could not get the tying marker in the remaining couple of minutes.

PRESENT ATHLETIC CARDS PROVING UNSATISFACTORY

Only Method Left to Establish Athletics Seems to be a Compulsory Athletic Fee

Each time the question of compulsory athletic fees is broached there are cries of derision from all quarters, and yet the next question arises, "What in — are we going to do about athletics?" As one who, to be absolutely confidential, checked in his athletic ticket and received five dollars for same, perhaps I am as good an authority as anyone as to just how the students feel about it. Frankly, I have changed my mind. Students naturally do not appreciate being compelled to do anything, not even work, and a compulsory athletic fee entailing the expenditure of five perfectly good greenbacks rather sticks in our crops, but let's just view the situation from, let us say, a worried and harassed treasurer's point of view. Of the fifteen hundred odd athletic tickets, about six hundred and some were retained, giving the Union about $3,500 to work with. With other appropriations for various activities, and a rather extensive travelling program, the sum is rather inadequate for good results, both in games and a healthy balance sheet.

Take basketball. The B.C. team was guaranteed $250 to play here. With a good turnout we stood a fair chance of making a substantial rake-off. However, only 119 students were in attendance with a gate of $62.

Take hockey. We belong to the Edmonton Hockey Association—and bluntly, I wish to heck we didn't. We are losing money on it. We must redeem every student ticket at 50c. That is not so bad, but the fact is this—due to a lack of finances the students cannot see the games they wish to see on their athletic cards. This is a handicap which might be overcome. It can be overcome in one way. A compulsory athletic fee and a withdrawal from the Edmonton Hockey Association. This would boost our finances, allow us to participate in inter-collegiate athletics, and allow us to see every game. One handicap would be that a small number of students would travel extensively, and we would only have an opportunity to see other colleges here. This could be overcome by playing exhibition games in the city wit, say, the Soops and Imperials.

Not only would more inter-collegiate participation be possible, but also there would be about 40 per cent. more funds to be equally distributed among other branches of activity, and they could very well stand it at times. Hockey up to the present has been our only paying sport. It is felt that it will continue to be so, provided we have sufficient capital to undertake a travelling schedule. Hockey as it is this year is a loss.

Something must be done to put these activities on their feet—even if it does entail a compulsory athletic fee. The present system is not only inadequate—it's a nuisance, and the students are not seeing the best games which they otherwise might.

Not only athletics would benefit. There would be 40 per cent. more funds for all other branches of activity. Think it over—talk it over—argue—fight over it—start a revolution! But don't sit back with a self-satisfied air and let everything go to hell!
